INTRODUCTION

THIS is the 23rd issue of the Yearbook of American Churches, a compilation of information on all faiths in the United States. This reference work is now published annually. By making the book an annual it is possible to note the changes of officers that take place yearly, and to make a continuous record of the statistics that are also published every year by numerous religious bodies.

After long discussion it has been decided to use a method of dating followed by a number of other publishers of reference works. Thus this "Edition for 1955" contains data gathered in 1954 and presents the latest information secured at as recent a date as practicable for the publication schedule. It is well-known that information must be gathered some months prior to the printing of a book.

The information on organized religion, and on related organizations in which it is believed that many religious agencies have an interest, consists chiefly of directories and of statistical and historical data.

Among the eleven directories, one is on certain religious bodies in Canada. The largest directory is the one devoted to the religious bodies, or communions, in the United States. An effort is made to record all known denominations, and to report data for those willing to furnish documentary information. A few have declined to furnish information. The names and addresses of these are given, with a note indicating information has been declined. The aim of the Editor is to be inclusive, to expand the coverage, and not to pass judgment on the nature of the program carried on.

The "latest information" on statistics is given under categories of church membership, religious education, clergy, and finance. These figures are compiled for Continental United States, i.e., the 48 states and the District of Columbia, and thus are not always the total official figure published by a given religious body, because some denominations in the U.S. include members in Canada, Alaska, Hawaii, or even in other nations. The purpose in presenting a compilation for Continental U.S. is to provide data comparable with similar tabulations made for many years.

Studies of trends, comparing the latest statistics with those of prior years are made for the purpose of aiding those who wish to make comparisons.

In all the statistical reports the Editor simply summarizes the official reports made by the statisticians of the religious bodies. This year a special study of ministers' salaries in three bodies, 1939 to 1952, is presented, because there has been a conspicuous lack of national information on the subject.

State and local councils are listed in three sections: those with paid leadership, those with voluntary leadership, and the organizations of church women. It is understood that the local councils of church men are reported under the state and local councils of churches.

The user of this volume deserves a frank word concerning its limitations. A few of the directories do not contain every institution or organization in the United States. They do, however, contain large numbers of organizations believed to be needed in a national listing. There has not been available the staff time required to compile, or the money to print, the names of, say, every institution training clergymen, or every known religious periodical. At present it is not practical to present such lists because of costs of compilation and printing. Our listings have stood the pragmatic tests of many users.

All the information in this book has been supplied generously by others. It is possible to scrutinize and to check with previous reports the data supplied. Ordinarily, however, it has not been possible to verify these data. If in spite of great care errors have occurred, the Editor will thank the users of the book for corrections which will be made in the next edition.

The compilation and editing of the volume were committed to the Central Department of Research and Survey of the National Council, and the Associate Executive Director of that Department was designated as editor of this volume. Executives and staff members of many units of the Council have shown an interest in the book and have gladly helped in the process of preparation.

Highlights

Among the information appearing in this book:

A total membership of 94,842,845 persons in 255 religious bodies in Continental United States is reported by official church statisticians in a compilation of "the latest information."

This is a gain of 2.8 per cent over the figures compiled a year earlier. The population gain was 1.7 per cent. The number of Protestant members reported increased 3 per cent over the previous annual figure; the number of Roman Catholics reported increased 4 per cent. Most bodies are reporting figures for 1953.

The total church membership is at a new high; also the proportion of church members in the population is at a new high of over 59.5 per cent.

The number of local churches reported by all faiths is 294,359, a gain of 1.5 per cent.

The six major groups report members as follows:

Buddhist	63,000
Old Catholic and Polish National Catholic	366,088
Eastern Orthodox	2,100,171
Jewish	5,000,000
Roman Catholic	31,476,261
Protestant	55,837,325
Total	94,842,845

The total number of pastors reported having charges in local churches is 207,618. Only about 200 religious bodies report on this item. The number of Protestant pastors reported with charges now stands at 187,551. All bodies report a total of 338,250 ordained persons on their rolls, many of these being retired or in educational work.

There is a total enrollment of 35,389,466 persons in 262,084 Sunday or Sabbath schools, including 2,741,929 teachers and officers. The gain in enrollment was 8.1 per cent for the year. Protestant Sunday schools reported 93.6 per cent of the total enrollment.

There are 77 religious bodies with over 50,000 members each, and these reported 98.2 per cent of all church members.

It also indicates the number of Sundays during Epiphany and after Pentecost for each year of the period. The Russian Orthodox Church Outside Russia

(Formerly The Russian Orthodox Church Abroad)

Organized in 1920 to unite in one body of dioceses the missions and parishes of the Russian Orthodox Church outside of Russia. The governing body was set up in Constantinople sponsored by the Ecumenical Patriarchate. In 1921 headquarters were transferred to Sremsky Karlovtsy, Yugoslavia. From the end of World War II until 1950 the Synod was in Munich, Germany. In November, 1950, it came to the United States. The Russian Orthodox Church Outside Russia lays emphasis on being true to the old traditions of the Russian Church, but it does not compromise with official church leaders in Moscow, "since that would amount to being under the influence and direction of a godless State."

In addition to those in the United States, the Synod has dioceses and communities in Canada, Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Paraguay, Uruguay, Peru and Venezuela. There are diocesan bishops in London, Paris, Munich, Salzburg and in Australia and New Zealand; parishes in North Africa, Turkey and Iran, and there is a Mission in Palestine.

Jehovah's witnesses

"Jehovah's witnesses adhere to the oldest religion on earth, the worship of Almighty God revealed in his Bible as Jehovah. From man's beginning there have been at all times some of Jehovah's witnesses on earth, adhering to the Bible principle of separateness from all parts of the world organization of men. In modern times Jehovah's witnesses are primitive Christians, recognizing and teaching the Bible as God's word of truth, believing it and following its commandments, which accounts for their consistent neutrality toward any nationalistic interests. They use the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, Inc., International Bible Students Association, and other corporations in their earth-wide preaching activity, and preach to all regardless of denomination. To be one of Jehovah's witnesses one must make an unconditional individual dedication to do the will of Almighty God and then must proceed faithfully to obey the commandments of God and Christ as expressed in the Bible, which course of action is the worship of God and is true religion.

"Therefore, all of Jehovah's witnesses are ministers of the gospel and have no human leader. Their Yearbook shows them active during 1953 in 143 countries of the earth, where there are approximately 520,000 such ministers preaching, teaching the people of all nations that God's word is true and that their only hope is in the Kingdom of Jehovah under Christ Jesus which has been established to rule over earth and which will replace all governments of man. There are now 3,195 congregations in continental United States, and worldwide 14,163 congregations." (From a statement by the President to the Editor of the Yearbook.)

The Methodist Church

The present organization of The Methodist Church began in May, 1939, with the unification of three branches of Methodism—the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the Methodist Protestant Church. All three of the uniting churches were in unbroken historical connection with Methodism in America. The 1948 General Conference adopted a resolution stating that the Christmas Conference of 1784 is regarded as the date on which the organized Methodist Church was founded as an ecclesiastical organization. At this Conference, held in Lovely Lane Chapel, Baltimore, Francis Asbury and Thomas Coke were elected superintendents and a program of expansion was outlined. The Methodist movement began in England with John and Charles Wesley, leaders of an evangelical revival, and was carried to America in 1760 by Methodist emigrants from Ireland.

Muslims

There are local centers of worship among Muslims in the U.S.A. A mosque, said to be in accord with the full Muslim traditions, was erected in 1953 in Washington, D. C. There are perhaps 15 or 20 places of worship in cities in the nation. There is apparently no general organization, and there are only the most informal estimates of the number of persons affiliated with the local centers. It may be that there are from ten to twenty thousand persons who participate in these places of worship.

The information in this paragraph has been gathered by the Editor of this Yearbook, by means of correspondence and interviews with Muslims in the U.S.A.

United Presbyterian Church of North America

This body dates back to the Reformed Presbyterian (Covenanter) Church (1643) and the Associate Presbyterian (Seceder) Church (1733), both of Scotland. These two groups appeared in America in 1774 and 1753 respectively. They united and became the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church in 1782. A minority, however, continued as the Associate Presbyterian Church, but in 1858 the two groups united and became the United Presbyterian Church as above.

C. COUNCILS OF CHURCH WOMEN

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Officers of state councils are listed directly under the name of each state. In order to conserve space, the local councils are generally listed only with the name of the city, the name of the president, and the street address of the president, e.g., under Alabama, Anniston Council of Church Women, Mrs. W. W. Wakefield, Pres., 620 Keith Ave., Anniston, Ala.

It is believed that the following listing, abbreviated, will be clear: "Anniston, Mrs. W. W. Wakefield, Pres., 620 Keith Ave." In cases where the name of the local council is different from the post office address of the officer, the name of the council and the address of the officer are given.

STATISTICAL AND HISTORICAL SECTION

This section contains:

1. "The latest information" on church membership, religious education, and clergy, compiled from reports made by the official statisticians of religious bodies, for Continental United States. The figures furnished and here tabulated are mainly for the calendar year, 1953, or for a fiscal year ending in 1953. The methods used in this compilation are more fully described below. The most recent statistics on giving, as reported by a large number of religious bodies in the U.S.A. and Canada, and as published by the National Council's Department of Stewardship and Benevolence, are reprinted.
2. Studies of trends in church statistics, in some instances since 1926, in others since 1939. These studies are made for the purpose of aiding the user in understanding the significance of the annual compilation.
3. Brief excerpts from recent studies of church developments.
4. Information on recent publications of the Scriptures.
5. A list of depositories of church history material and sources.

1. THE LATEST INFORMATION

CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

The reports on church membership received from official statisticians of religious bodies reveal a total membership of 94,842,845 persons in 255 bodies in 1953, compared with a total of 92,277,129 persons in 1952, published in the previous YEARBOOK. These figures are for Continental United States, i.e., the 48 states and the District of Columbia.

The total number of church members is equal to over 59.5 per cent of the population in Continental United States. This is the highest proportion of the population ever reported to be on the church rolls.

The gain of 2,565,716 persons is equal to 2.8 per cent for the year. The number of Protestants reported increased 3.0 per cent over the previous annual total. The number of Roman Catholics increased 4.0 per cent.

A portion of the 2,565,716 gain in membership over the 1953 YEARBOOK figure is accounted for by the fact that five Protestant bodies with a combined membership of 195,804 reported this year for the first time.

Between 1952 and 1953, the estimated population of Continental United States increased 1.7 per cent.

There are 294,359 local churches reported in 1953, compared with 285,277 in 1952. The gain is equal to 1.5 per cent.

Of 268 religious bodies listed, there are 255 reports of church membership and 255 reports of the number of local churches. There are 16 bodies for which the gains reported are for a period of two years, or more.

An analysis of the latest information in six major groups reveals the following:

There are also Muslims in the United States, but no statistical reports are available. Informal estimates are cited in the directory of religious bodies in this Yearbook.

The Protestant church membership was equal to 58.9 per cent of all church members in 1953—the same as in 1952, and also about the same as in 1906. It seems that the major religious groups have developed in about the same relation to each other during the last 50 years. The data for 1926-53 are more fully discussed below.

A recital of these trends and data gives rise to the usual questions about definitions of membership. The Roman Catholics count all baptized persons, including infants. The Jews regard as members all Jews in communities having congregations. The Eastern Orthodox Churches include all persons in their nationality or cultural groups. Most Protestant bodies count only the persons who have attained full membership, and previous estimates have indicated that all but a small minority of these are over 13 years of age. However, many Lutheran bodies and the Protestant Episcopal Church now report all baptized persons, and not only those confirmed.

The Church of Christ, Scientist, did not furnish membership figures because of a regulation of that body that forbids "the numbering of people and the reporting of such statistics for publication." In the Census of Religious Bodies, 1936, published by the U. S. Bureau of the Census, there were reported 268,915 members of the Church of Christ, Scientist.

STATISTICAL AND HISTORICAL SECTION

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

In 1953 there were 262,084 Sunday or Sabbath schools in all religious bodies, with 2,741,929 teachers and officers, and a total enrollment of 35,389,466 persons.

In 1952 there was reported a total enrollment of 32,638,879. Thus the increase was 2,750,587 persons, or 8.1 per cent.

The Protestant churches, which have generally emphasized the Sunday school, reported 93.6 per cent of the total enrollment for 1953, and 93.9 per cent for 1952.

Helen F. Spaulding of the staff of the Central Department of Research and Survey of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. has commented as follows on trends in Sunday school enrollment:

"Sunday school enrollment showed a healthy and continuous growth during the first third of the century. Then during the thirties something happened; momentum slowed down, and some of the religious bodies actually registered a loss. It was not until 1947 that there were definite signs of recovery."

NUMBER OF CLERGY

The inquiry to statisticians of religious bodies asked for information on only two questions: The number of pastors having charges, and the total number of ordained persons. The reports are, as for the 1953 book, incom- plete. Fifty-six out of 268 bodies made no report for pastors having charges.

This year the total number of pastors reported as having charges is 207,618; the total number of ordained persons is 338,250.

Direct comparisons with previous years cannot be made because of the incomplete reporting. In the 1953 book there were reported 183,899 pastors having charges, and 323,048 ordained persons. Many pastors leave the ministry for other occupations or are retired, but their names are often included among the total number of clergymen reported by religious bodies.

According to the federal census of population, in 1940, there were 140,077 clergy of all faiths; in 1950, 168,419.

An analysis by groups follows:

1. This report contains "the latest information," tabulated just prior to the printing of the book.

STATISTICAL AND HISTORICAL SECTION

2. It contains data for Continental United States only. This means the 48 states and the District of Columbia. The purpose in publishing this figure is to make it comparable with previous tabulations made for many years on the same basis.

3. Many bodies, when they publish their total membership, include members outside Continental United States. Thus the figure we publish may be less than the total official membership.

4. It may be that religious bodies will publicly report later figures than those given here, and may even report them about the time these figures are released. There is no way of avoiding this because the various religious bodies make their reports public at different times of the year.

5. These figures come from the official statisticians of the religious bodies. They are gathered by means of a standardized form mailed on the same day to all statisticians. The aim of the editor is to gather the figures from all religious bodies at the same time, with equal procedure and fairness to all.

CHURCH GIVING

A Compilation of the Latest Information, Completed November, 1953

Total contributions from living donors for all purposes reported by 46 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox Churches in the United States amounted to $1,401,114,217, a gain of 8.9 per cent over the figure of $1,286,323,160 reported by the same religious bodies a year earlier.

For local congregational expenses, 45 bodies reported gifts of $1,114,-810,848, a gain of 7.5 per cent over the amount of $1,036,832,082 the previous year.

For all benevolences, including home and foreign missions, 46 denominations reported receipts of $286,303,369, compared with $249,491,078, a gain of 14.8 per cent for the year.

The per capita total contribution in 46 bodies was $41.94 for the year, compared with $38.99 a year earlier, a gain of $2.95 per member, or 7.6 per cent.

In benevolences the giving in 46 bodies was $8.57 per capita, compared with $7.56, an increase of 13.4 per cent, or $1.01 per member.

CANADIAN FIGURES

Six religious bodies in Canada report a higher rate of annual gain in congregational expenses and in total contributions, but not in benevolences, when compared with the 46 U.S. denominations. Certain errors made in the official reports a year ago from one denomination in Canada have been corrected, and the reporting now appears to be on the same basis for both years.

Total contributions reported by six bodies were $53,153,103, compared with $47,466,807 a year earlier, a gain of 12 per cent, higher than the rate of gain in 46 U.S. bodies.

Congregational expenses in the six bodies increased from $38,131,939

STATISTICAL AND HISTORICAL SECTION

to $42,772,207, a gain of 12.2 per cent, also in excess of the rate of gain in the U.S.

However, the rate of gain in total benevolences, including home and foreign missions, was lower than in U.S.—11.2 per cent. The contributions amounted to $10,380,896 this year, compared with $9,334,868 reported a year ago.

The per capita giving in Canada was $32.18 per year for all contributions, an increase from $29.02 a year earlier, or 10.9 per cent, or $3.16 per member. Per capita giving for congregational expenses went up from $23.81 to $25.89, or $2.57—11 per cent.

Total benevolences per capita increased 57 cents per member in the year, from $5.71 to $6.28, or 10 per cent.

FOREIGN MISSIONS

In the category of foreign missions, 40 bodies in the United States reported contributions of $53,383,453, an increase of 6.4 per cent over the $50,172,726 reported a year earlier by 40 denominations. Per capita giving to foreign missions advanced from $1.38 per year to $1.45, an increase of seven cents per member.

In Canada, 5 denominations reported gifts to foreign missions of $2,042,148, an increase of 5.8 per cent over the year previous. Per capita giving to foreign missions is higher in Canada than in the U.S., advancing from $1.68 to the current $1.76, an increase of eight cents a member a year.

SOME LONG TIME TRENDS IN GIVING TO 14 BODIES IN THE U.S.A.

In Statistics of Giving, published a year ago, two charts were published to indicate the trends in total giving to 15 denominations, the trend in church membership, and a comparison of per capita giving and the consumer price index for the years 1924-51. For lack of space these cannot be repeated here.

This year a number of other comparisons are made of the data for 14* denominations for the years 1929-51, inclusive, with certain economic data for the same years. In these computations the figures on giving published for 1952 have been regarded as for 1951, and so for all other years. The economic data are all from U.S. Department of Commerce, Survey of Current Business, July, 1952.

In all the charts the figures for 1939=100. The year was chosen because a number of studies of economic indicators made by both public and private organizations are made with this year as a "base." It is regarded by many as a year before the activities of World War II began to affect the economy of the United States.

Trend in Per Capita Giving to 14 Religious Bodies and in Per Capita Disposable Personal Income in the U.S., 1929-1951

Source: For figures on giving, official reports of denominations to United Stewardship Council and to Joint Department of Stewardship and Benevolence, National Council of Churches; for economic data, U.S. Department of Commerce, Survey of Current Business, July, 1952.

IN CHART I will be seen the trend in per capita disposable personal income compared with the trend in per capita giving to 14 denominations. To the lay observer it may be said that the two lines have moved together. As a per cent of 1939, per capita giving was lower than per capita disposable personal income from the year 1929 to about 1937; the two were close in 1937-40. During the war years and later, 1941-48, per capita disposable income moved up more rapidly than per capita giving. Since 1948 the trend in the two has been much the same.

To give figures: Per capita disposable income in 1929 was 126.5 per cent of 1939; in 1951 it was 272 per cent of 1939.

Per capita giving in 1929 was 164.9 per cent of 1939; in 1951 it was 272.3 per cent of 1939.

IN CHART II, total contributions to 14 religious bodies are compared with total national income of the people of the U.S.A., 1929-51.

The total income of the people in 1929 was 120.4 per cent of 1939, while total contributions were 147.3 per cent of 1939. In 1951, national income was 382.7 per cent of 1939, and total contributions were only 341.8 per cent of 1939.

IN CHART III, total contributions to 14 religious bodies are compared with total compensation of employees in the United States, excluding the military. The figures on total contributions are, of course, the same as those in Chart II. Total compensation of employes was in 1929, 106.4 per cent of 1939; in 1951 it was 359 per cent of 1939.

These studies are regarded as preliminary and exploratory. It is hoped that they will be discussed, and that the discussion will result in more intensive studies in the future.

STATISTICAL AND HISTORICAL SECTION

SOURCES

All figures on giving here reported are those received from officials of the denominations. The current report is the 33rd of a series, begun by the United Stewardship Council. The United Stewardship Council was one of the agencies merged in 1950 to form the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. The Joint Department of Stewardship and Benevolence of the National Council is the successor to the United Stewardship Council.

The reports here presented are from only a portion of the religious bodies in the United States. Total giving to all bodies can only be estimated, and no estimate has been made during the past few years.

DEFINITIONS

These statistics are furnished by national officials of the religious bodies reporting.

Budget Benevolence includes contributions from living donors to the benevolent budget of the denomination as determined by the proper authority.

Denominational Benevolence includes all of Budget Benevolences and such other contributions for the work of the denomination reporting as may be reported to denominational headquarters.

Other Benevolences are contributions for various benevolences not in the denominational list, and includes only a small part of what is actually contributed, because only what is reported to denominational headquarters is included here.

Total Benevolences is the sum of Denominational Benevolences and Other Benevolences.

Congregational Expenses includes contributions to expenses of the local parish or church, including building funds, repairs, fuel, minister's salary—anything that is for the local church.

Total Contributions is the sum of Total Benevolence and Congregational Expenses.

CONCERNING MEMBERSHIP

The terms, "per capita" and "per member," are used interchangeably. The per member gifts here published are computed by use of the figure on membership furnished by the official reporting the data on giving. This official was asked to supply a figure of membership, 13 years of age and over. In some instances, the official reported or estimated membership 13 years of age and over, and in other instances, the figure was "inclusive" or "total membership," larger than the number 13 years of age and over.

The figures on giving are gathered at a different time than the annual compilation of church membership by the Central Department of Research and Survey, National Council of Churches, published in the Yearbook of American Churches.

LONG-TIME TRENDS IN GIVING

In this Yearbook we continue to present data on long-time trends in reported giving and the data below show trends for 14 religious bodies, 1929-52. These data are also compared with trends in certain economic data. This study was prepared later than that appearing in the foregoing compilation of the latest information, completed November, 1953, appearing in the annual publication of the National Council of Churches, Statistics of Giving, 1953.

The fourteen denominations are the same as those mentioned in the foregoing report.

These compilations are published at this time because a number of church administrators have expressed an interest in a comparison of data on church finance with economic indicators. No attempt is made at interpretation. It is hoped that further intensive study, possibly in the next Yearbook, will yield interpretation that will be of interest and use.

See charts and tables below. The sources for all are as follows: For church data, a special compilation made by Central Department of Research and Survey, National Council of Churches; for economic indicators, Survey of Current Business, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, July 1952, and February, 1953.

2. SOME TRENDS

The annual compilation of statistics on church membership and religious education can best be understood by comparison with figures for previous years. In this section available church statistics for earlier years are summarized.

Proportion of Church Members in the Population

Throughout the history of the United States, the proportion of church members in the total population has risen. Data for a century are given in Table I, below. In 1850, 16 per cent of the population were recorded on the church membership rolls. By 1950, 57 per cent of the people were so reported. In 1953, the percentage was 59.5 per cent.

Prior to the Census of Religious Bodies, 1926, the basis of reporting members in a number of religious bodies was different from that followed in 1926 and since. For example, prior to 1926 a few bodies reported only heads of families as members; and a few other bodies at about that time began reporting as members all baptized persons, including infants, as members, instead of only adults. Thus the figures in the table for 1920 and prior years are not on the same basis as those in 1930 and following years.

It is apparent that the gains officially reported were at a more rapid rate from 1940 on than during the preceding two decades. The figures themselves obviously do not tell the reasons. But there is statistical evidence that the people turned to the churches in 1940-53, to a greater extent than during the 20's or the 30's. See Chart I and Table I.

Inclusive Membership of Religious Bodies

The number of church members of all faiths increased from 54,576,346 in 1926 to 86,830,490 in 1950, and 94,842,845 in 1953.

During the same period the population of Continental United States increased from 117,136,000 in 1926 to 159,017,000 in 1953.

The figures for 1950 and 1953 appearing in Table II below include estimates of the number of persons in the armed forces serving overseas, since the church members among those in the armed services are undoubtedly included on the rolls of their home churches.

For a comparison of the trends, see Tables II and III below. The gains of the churches have been far more rapid than the increase in the population.

STATISTICAL AND HISTORICAL SECTION

Members Per Church Increasing

Since 1926, the average membership per local church (parish, congregation) of all religious bodies has been increasing. In 1926 the figure was 235; by 1950, it was 304; and by 1953, 322.

Comparing 1926 and 1953, the increase was 37 per cent (see Table IV).

Sunday and Sabbath Schools

The total number of Sunday and Sabbath schools in all religious bodies increased from 184,686 in 1926 to 246,240 in 1950, and 262,084 in 1953. (The term Sabbath schools is used to designate the schools of those bodies that observe the Sabbath on Saturday.)

The total enrollment in schools in all religious bodies increased from 23,206,374 persons in 1926 to 29,775,357 in 1950, and 35,389,466 in 1953. Between 1926 and 1953 the gain was 52.5 per cent (see Table V).

Protestant and Roman Catholic Comparisons

No precise comparison is possible between Protestant and Roman Catholic figures. Most Protestant churches enumerate as members persons who have attained full membership, usually at age 13. Probably 90 to 95 per cent of Protestant members are over 13 years of age. Roman Catholics regard all baptized persons, including children, as members.

Since 1926, the total membership of Protestant churches increased from 31,511,701 to 50,079,578 in 1950, and 55,837,325 in 1953. Comparing figures for 1953 with those of 1926, there was an increase of 77.2 per cent (see Table VI).

Protestants were 27 per cent of the total population of Continental United States in 1926; 33.8 per cent in 1950; and 35.1 per cent in 1953 (see Table VII).

STATISTICAL AND HISTORICAL SECTION

The membership of the Roman Catholic Church increased from 18,605,003 persons in 1926 to 28,634,878 in 1950, and 31,476,261 in 1953. From 1926 to 1953 there was an increase of 69.2 per cent (see Tables VIII and IX).

3. DATA ON RECENT CHURCH DEVELOPMENTS

A CHURCH ATTENDANCE POLL

According to a sample poll of adults, conducted early in 1954, 47 per cent stated that they had attended church during the week preceding the interview, the American Institute of Public Opinion, Princeton, N. J., announced March 26, 1954.

Four years earlier, a poll by the same organization revealed that 39 per cent of the adults queried stated they had gone to church.

Forty per cent of the Protestants queried said they had been in church, and 72 per cent of the Roman Catholics said they had attended.

Half of the women questioned said they had attended, and 44 per cent of the men.

Fifty per cent of the farm people questioned said they had attended church.

Church attendance is more frequent among older people, according to the poll, than among the younger. Forty-three per cent of the persons between the ages of 21 and 29 said they had attended church, while 49 per cent of those aged 50 and over said they had gone to church.

For summaries of earlier church attendance polls, see the Yearbook of American Churches, 1953.

MINISTERS' SALARIES IN THREE RELIGIOUS BODIES, 1939-52

A PRELIMINARY INQUIRY

Because there is considerable public interest in ministers' salaries, and incomplete information available on the subject, we continue our canvass of published information begun in the 1953 Yearbook. (See that book for earlier material.) The inquiry has mainly to do with the three religious bodies that have published data on average salaries in 1939 through 1952, the latest year for which data were available when this study was completed. These bodies are: the Congregational Christian Churches, the Protestant Episcopal Church, and the United Presbyterian Church. Despite the fact that information for the period is found for only these three denominations, the trends are probably of general significance.

A main purpose of the inquiry is to report on trends in purchasing power of ministers' salaries, and to consider how this compares with some other groups in the population. No attempt is made here fully to evaluate the adequacy of the salaries, and it is recognized that salaries are not total income. Many clergymen receive an undetermined amount of fees for services, and many are furnished with living quarters. Of the

SOURCES OF SALARY DATA:

- Yearbooks of the Congregational Christian Churches, 1939 to 1952.
- Minutes of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, 1939 to 1952.
- Protection Points, Volume 17, No. 2, November 1952, Bulletin issued by Pension Fund of the Protestant Episcopal Church. (Salaries shown for ministers of this denomination include "a rental value of rectory, when supplied the clergyman rent-free, figured as one-sixth of the cash stipend. three religious bodies considered, only the Protestant Episcopal figures include actual rental value of dwellings furnished, or an estimate figured at 15 per cent of the salary.

The abbreviated tables below indicate an increase in the average salaries of ministers in these bodies, in terms of current dollars, 1939 through 1952, but a decrease in "1939 dollars." In other words, when account is taken of the decline in the purchasing power of the dollar, the purchasing power of the ministers' salaries was less in 1952 than in 1939.

This is in striking contrast to published figures of persons engaged in all grades and skills in manufacturing, services, and government employment. In these vocations, average earnings increased in terms of current dollars and of "1939 dollars."

In the Congregational Christian Churches, the average salary advanced from $1,769 in 1939 to $3,313 in 1952; but in terms of "1939 dollars," the 1952 salary was equal to only $1,734.

In the United Presbyterian Church, the average salary advanced from $1,979 in 1939, to $3,709 in 1952; but in terms of "1939 dollars," the 1952 salary was equal to only $1,941.

In the Protestant Episcopal Church, the average salary increased from $2,725 in 1939 to $4,391 in 1952; but in "1939 dollars," the 1952 salary was equal to only $2,298.

See Table 1.

In manufacturing, the average annual earnings increased from $1,363 in 1939 to $3,809 in 1952; and the 1952 earnings, in "1939 dollars," was equal to $1,993.

In employment in services, average annual earnings increased from $943 in 1939 to $2,483 in 1952; and the 1952 earnings, in "1939 dollars," were equal to $1,299.

In government employment, average annual earnings increased from $1,339 in 1939 to $3,272 in 1952; and the 1952 earnings, in "1939 dollars," were equal to $1,712.

CENSUS DATA ON CLERGYMEN'S INCOMES

The incomes of clergymen of all faiths, based on a 20 per cent sample, as given by persons in the course of the Census of Population, 1950, have been published by the Bureau of the Census in Volume II, Characteristics of the Population, Part I, U.S. Summary, Table 129 (Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, 1953. $3.75). The figures are for the calendar year 1949. Data on incomes of members of many other vocations are also published.

The median income reported by male clergymen for 1949 was $2,412. Eighty-five per cent of the clergymen reported an income of less than $4,000 for 1949. Presumably the figure was given in terms of cash, not including rental value of living quarters which are furnished for many clergymen, since the enumerators asked for a figure with no qualifications. Possibly, there are also included persons giving their main calling as clergymen who also have other occupations.

The figures for males in certain groups are as follows:

MEDIAN INCOMES BY STATES

In Parts 2 to 50 of Characteristics of the Population, as noted above, with separate books published for each part, will be found median incomes of clergymen by states, and also in certain metropolitan areas. The states for which clergymen's incomes are reported, and a number of metropolitan areas we have selected, are given below, with states arranged by regions. When no tabulation appears, it is apparently because of insufficient data from the 20 per cent sample.

CHURCH-AFFILIATED DAY SCHOOLS

In 1952 there were about 3,000 Protestant church-affiliated day schools with about 137,000 children enrolled, compared with about 2,000 schools and 100,000 pupils in 1937. These were nursery kindergarten and elementary schools. The figures appeared in Information Service, National Council of Churches, May 3, 1952. Later figures have not been available.

The Official Catholic Directory, 1952, New York, reported 2,892,706 pupils in 1,354 elementary parochial schools in the Roman Catholic Church, at that time an all-time high for that body. Later figures for Roman Catholics are found in subsequent annual issues of the Directory.

GIVING TO FOREIGN MISSIONS 1913 AND 1951

A well-known church official recently asked for comparative data on giving to foreign missions in Protestant religious bodies prior to World

STATISTICAL AND HISTORICAL SECTION

War I and in a recent year. In response to his request, a preliminary study has been made of the only comparative data available, namely in 10 bodies listed below, for 1913, the earliest year for which published data for the bodies were found, and for 1951, the latest for which all these denominations had reported at the time of the study. These 10 denominations reported 25,923,531 members in 1951, and thus had close to one-half the membership of all Protestant bodies in that year. We emphasize that sources for 1913 were not as accessible as those for 1951, and it may be that, in spite of care, an omission from 1913 data unduly influences the trends we summarize here.

Comparing 1913 and 1951 in these 10 Protestant denominations:

Membership increased from 14,053,897 persons to 25,923,531, or 84.4 per cent.

Total contributions reported for foreign missions increased from $9,662,428 to $33,132,763, or 242.9 per cent.

In terms of purchasing power of the dollar, the total contributions for foreign missions increased only 30.7 per cent. (The base, or 100, in making this computation, was 1947-49, the present base used in figuring the consumer price index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.)

Per capita giving for foreign missions went up from 69 cents to $1.28, or 85.5 per cent.

But in purchasing power the per capita contribution declined by 29 per cent.

The contributions included in these computations were those published for American Baptist Convention, Southern Baptist Convention, Congregational Christian Churches, Disciples of Christ, The Methodist Church (a merger of three bodies), Presbyterian Church in the U.S., Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., United Presbyterian Church, Protestant Episcopal Church, Reformed Church in America, in Trends in Protestant Giving, by Charles H. Fahs (New York, Institute of Social and Religious Research, 1929), and in the annual report, Statistics of Giving, published by the National Council's Joint Department of Stewardship and Benevolence, in 1952, for 1951 and fiscal years ending in 1951.

Another way of answering the question is to ascertain the proportion of total benevolences going to foreign missions. Here comparative data were found for only 8 denominations, and no figures for the Protestant Episcopal Church or the Disciples of Christ are here considered. These eight bodies had 22,469,735 members in 1951, and 11,685,449 in 1913. In 1913, 32 per cent of all gifts reported for benevolences were in the category of foreign missions, and in 1951, slightly less than 23 per cent. We repeat that it is more difficult to come by adequate published sources for 1913 than for 1951, which may affect this computation. Our figures may, however, indicate a continuation of a trend noted by Charles H. Fahs in 1929 in his report cited above: "The percentage ratio of per capita gifts from living donors for foreign missions to per capita gifts for total benevolences has dropped slightly . . . in the postwar period as compared with the years from 1913 until the United States entered" World War I.

There has been no attempt to interpret the data. They are published here in a preliminary way for the purpose of stimulating more thorough inquiry.

The problem of interpretation is a difficult one because one does not know how to appraise the influences that have been in operation. There is informed opinion to the effect that the foreign missions agencies had much more freedom to approach their constituencies in 1913 than in 1951. What has the effect been of tendencies toward "united promotion" in the denominations? There are those who think that "united promotion" has made for a smaller share for foreign missions. Others hold that this tendency has been offset by more systematic finance, particularly the increasing practice in local churches of making an every-member canvass and of using envelopes for weekly contributions.

WOMEN IN THE MINISTRY

Since the publication of the 1953 Yearbook, the Bureau of the Census has published figures reporting 6,777 women clergymen, or 4.1 per cent of the total number of clergymen, which was 168,419, according to the population census of 1950. The figures are for all religious bodies of all faiths, and there are no separate figures according to religious body.

A study of available published reports, appearing in Information Service, May 31, 1952, revealed 5,791 ordained or licensed women ministers, of whom 2,896 were pastors of local churches. Of the pastors reported about one-tenth were in communions affiliated with the National Council of Churches. A precise count could not be made, and the data were limited to the denominations publishing data. The figures could not be compared directly with any other compilation. It appears that 63 religious bodies ordain women, while a total of 77 bodies ordain or license. Seven of these "give women special status of some sort."

For a later discussion, "Women Ministers Today," see Information Service, National Council of Churches, March 6, 1954.

VALUE OF NEW CONSTRUCTION OF RELIGIOUS BUILDINGS

Estimates of the annual value of new construction of religious buildings, 1920-1952 inclusive, are found in Statistical Supplement, May, 1953, Construction and Building Materials, published by the U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington.

4. THE SCRIPTURES

In the 1953 Yearbook appeared comprehensive information concerning the publication of various portions of the Confraternity Edition of the Scriptures of the Roman Catholics, the Revised Standard Version of the Bible by Protestant scholars, and the plans for a complete Biblical Anthology by Rabbinical scholars (pages 294-299 of the 1953 Yearbook). Among this information was a comprehensive article on the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, by Luther A. Weigle, Dean Emeritus of the Divinity School of Yale University, and chairman of the Standard Bible Committee.

In 1954, Dr. Weigle announced that in 17 months sales of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible had reached 2,647,000 copies; that sales of the Revised Standard Version of the New Testament, which appeared in 1947, had passed 2,500,000; that sales of an illustrated edition of the Bible were 220,000 copies in the early months of 1954. A Pulpit Bible was also released early in 1954.

Reports have also been received of a new translation of the Scriptures by a committee appointed by churches in Great Britain; of a revision begun in Germany of Martin Luther's Bible in German; and of revised translations recently issued in France and Switzerland.

"It is fortunate," Dr. Weigle commented, "that at a time when people need so desperately the Word of God, we are securing revisions of translations which make that Word understandable and clear to people generally."

"Democracy depends on faith in God; therefore, we do not want the Word of God to be the prerogative of a specially trained class of people. We want all to understand it, not just those who understand old English literature."

CONFRATERNITY EDITIONS

The St. Anthony Guild Press, Paterson 3, N. J., has published for the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, the following volumes of Scripture, translated under the auspices of the Episcopal Committee of the Confraternity:

The New Testament

First edition, 1941. In the course of various subsequent reprintings, numerous corrections and emendations were made piecemeal; these are listed collectively in the records as the second edition. The third, and definitive, edition was published in 1947.

The Old Testament

The Book of Genesis:

First printing, 1948. Second printing, with slight emendations, 1949. A third printing, using the 1949 text and including at the end of the book a set of discussion questions, was made in 1950 for the Most Rev. Edwin V. O'Hara, who made it the discussion-club text for that year in all the clubs of his diocese (Kansas City, Mo.). This book, with final corrections, was incorporated in Volume I of the Old Testament, 1952 (see below).

The Book of Psalms and the Canticles of the Roman Breviary:

First printing, 1950. This book, with final corrections, will be incorporated in the volume of the Old Testament now in active work (see below).

The Old Testament, Genesis-Ruth (Vol. I):

First edition, 1952. Second edition, 1953. This is the first of a planned 4-volume translation of the Old Testament. See next entry.

The Old Testament—Job, Psalms, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, Canticle of Canticles, Wisdom, Sirach (Ecclesiasticus):

These seven books will constitute the second unit to be published on the Old Testament. This volume is in active work, and it is planned to bring it out during the year 1954.

Make your church
a living part of the community

Churches equipped with Schulmerich "Carillonic Bells" occupy a place in their community that is immeasurable. Their beautiful music through the medium of bells helps make them a known source of spiritual life. Churchmen the country over have found that Schulmerich "Carillonic Bells" provide these ten outstanding benefits:

We'll gladly arrange for you to hear a nearby installation of "Carillonic Bells." Then judge their superiority for yourself. Prices are low—and no tower is required. Write for descriptive literature.

1. They advertise the church.
2. They prepare folks for worship.
3. They increase attendance.
4. They enhance the beauty of the service.
5. They increase membership.
6. They comfort the sick and shut-ins.
7. They inspire new character in many.
8. They bring religious thoughts every day.
9. They create a cultural atmosphere.
10. They build the influence of the church.

Why 65,000 Churches use The Upper Room in their regular ministry

The Upper Room is a practical demonstration of World Christian Fellowship—international, interracial, interdenominational.

It is family centered, helps build family altars, strengthens family ties.

It upholds the church and its programs, supports and undergirds the minister.

It makes its way into the lives of those who have no active interest in religion.

It develops regular habits of Bible reading, prayer and meditation; comforts and strengthens, encourages and inspires.

Published bi-monthly, with devotions for each day. Price, in lots of ten or more to one address, 5 cents per copy. Yearly subscriptions, 50 cents, two years, $1.00. Sample copy on request.

SAVE THE CHILDREN FEDERATION

Save the Children Federation founded in 1932 is a child service agency supported entirely by voluntary gifts. Compassionate in spirit, and international in the sphere of its operations, this organization assists needy children regardless of race or creed.

In America, the activities are conducted in isolated rural areas in close relationship to public schools. Through its leadership local communities are stimulated to self-help. SCF also serves children on the Navajo Indian Reservation. Overseas the Federation works in the war depleted countries of Europe, Lebanon and Israel in the Middle East and Korea in the Far East. By individualized aid to schools, children and babies it seeks to buttress the morale of families, and assist education while helping to create international friendship.

To support the programs both at home and abroad the Federation offers to individuals and organizations various projects for sponsorship. For information write to Save the Children Federation, 345 East 46th Street, New York 17, New York.

THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF CHRISTIANS AND JEWS

BROTHERHOOD UNDER GOD

TWENTY-SIX YEARS ago, disturbed by the bitterness of religious prejudice that marred our national life, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish leaders founded the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Throughout these twenty-six years NCCJ has been motivated by the dynamic religious faith of those who have given it their time and their energy. Protestants, Catholics and Jews, without compromise of conscience or of their distinctive and important religious differences, have found ways to work together to build better relations among men of all religions, races and nationalities.

The operation has been civic and social, but the roots have been in the moral law and in religious faith.

LET NCCJ help your church in its program of intergroup education. Write for information about speakers, discussion leaders, printed materials, films and consultant service to: Allyn P. Robinson, Director

PURPOSE: to enable the medical missionaries of all Protestant Mission Boards to care for and to cure people with leprosy.

American Leprosy Missions is the recognized auxiliary for this special ministry of Protestant missions. Denominational boards, as a rule, make no appropriation for the maintenance of leprosy work but rely on A.L.M. for the support of their own work of this kind. The service of leprosy patients is equally physical and spiritual, the two inseparably joined as they were in the life of our Lord. The missionary leprosy colonies are Christian communities in which forsaken and lonely people find the love of God through the love of men.

In such simple literary format men for generations have poured out their convictions, their thinking, their inventiveness. Much of this legacy for their fellow man is literature of everlasting value and challenge.

The program departments of the National Council of Churches likewise give you their intelligent work in simple format. Covering a multiplicity of topics—from concern about world order to the migrant Puerto Rican—the vital, abundant information is published for the interest and help of every one.

Write us for information about pamphlet literature, or ask to receive monthly issues of THE PUBLISHER, a chatty newsletter about council personalities and new publications. THE PUBLISHER is free and you are very welcome.
